For the period between 1.12.2017 – 31.12.2018 for at least 20h/week

In the rooms of the Universalmuseum Joanneum, a new Science Centre for teenagers and young adults is in its planning stages. On 1.200m<sup>2</sup> visitors will be able to explore exhibits focusing on Technology and Science. For this collaboration between the Children's Museum FRida & freD and the Universalmuseum Joanneum, the position of an exhibit planner has opened. We expect creative input on content matters of the interactive exhibits.

Salary: € 2.500,00 gross for 40 hours, with a willingness to overpay by appropriate qualifications and professional experience

Location: Graz

Areas of responsibility:

- Development and realization of all interactive exhibits shown in the science center.
- Development of detailed technical and digital solutions.
- Elaboration of implementation concepts.
- Creating schedules in regards to the exhibits.
- Creating a detailed list of expenses.
- Cost monitoring in regards to the exhibits during project realization.
- Project management incl. handling of all operational processes, e.g. in-house communication, interface definition and communication with external partners and companies.

We expect:

- Degree in a technical field or comparable training.
- Working in a team requires a creative and structured work approach within the framework of time and budget plans. Openness to dialogue and the ability to work in a team are requirements.
- The technical realization has to allow for an extraordinary exhibition experience for young visitors aged 12 and above. A user-friendly design and a simple, error-free and stable handling are top priorities.
- References concerning realization and execution of larger interactive exhibit projects with a comparable content are a must and have to be verified.
- We expect an interdisciplinary and creative way of thinking – even under time constraints.
