

How will you celebrate science engagement and global sustainability this November 10?

Join your peers and colleagues around the world in celebrating International Science Center and Science Museum Day 2019 (ISCSMD) on Sunday, November 10, 2019!

Science and technology centers and museums around the world celebrate ISCSMD each year on November 10. The day represents a united effort to highlight how public engagement in science and technology encourages action towards global sustainability, with an emphasis on diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Get started now!

Learn more at ISCSMD.org

Highlight a current or new activity, program, or exhibit at your center or museum related to one or more of the SDGs

Spread the word about how your institution's work advances sustainability and access to opportunity for all in your community

Develop or expand local partnerships to boost the reach and impact of your activities

Add the ISCSMD logo to your website and post on social media so we can amplify your efforts

ISCSMD focuses on how science engagement supports the United Nations' 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which seek to end poverty, fight inequalities, and tackle climate change, while ensuring that no one is left behind.

Tell us how you engage your community in science and technology for the global good!

Use #ISCSMD2019 and #ScienceDay to share your story.